Labor Head Posts Bond

Grand Jury Indicts Hoffa In Jury Fix

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Teamsters President James R. Hoffa today faced new charges—attempting to bribe jurors in his deadlocked federal court conspiracy trial here last year.

A five-count indictment returned by a special federal grand jury accused the labor leader with "aiding, commanding and inducing" efforts to influence two jurors and a prospective juror to vote for his acquittal.

In Philadelphia, Hoffa said he was not guilty and declined comment because he had not seen the indictment. He appeared before a U.S. commissioner and posted a $10,000 bond for a hearing next Monday.

More Indictments Awaited
Six other persons, most of them close friends or associates of Hoffa, also were indicted, and Justice Department attorneys indicated still more indictments might be forthcoming.

The grand jury charged the defendants offered $10,000 to a prospective juror, a similar amount to the son of a juror and a "promotion" to a Tennessee highway patrolman whose wife was on the jury. The two jurors were replaced before the case went to the jury.

Hoffa, 50, who heads the nation's largest single union, was tried on charges he conspired to violate the Taft-Hartley Act by accepting funds illegally from a Detroit transport firm in return for labor peace.

Jury Was Deadlocked
The trial, which began Oct. 22, ended Dec. 23, when U.S. Dist. Judge William E. Miller declared a mistrial, the jury having reported it was hopelessly deadlocked, 7 to 5, for acquittal.

Hoffa was indicted on five counts.

Indicted on single counts were:
Ewing King, president of Teamsters Local 327 here; Allen Dorfman, close friend of Hoffa and a Chicago insurance broker; Larry Campbell, business agent for the Teamsters Local 299 in Detroit, which Hoffa heads; Thomas Ewing Parks of Nashville, Campbell's uncle; Nicholas J. Tweel, Huntingdon, W. Va., insurance executive and president of the Continental Tobacco Co. of New York

Dinsio, Pals Face Hearing Wednesday

A hearing on a writ of habeas corpus will be heard Wednesday by Common Pleas Court Judge Raymond S. Buzzard in Lisbon on behalf of Amil A. Dinsio, 26, of Poland, and Harold J. Dailey, 32, and Daniel N. Marshall, 30, both of Austintown.

The trio was arrested for a robbery March 28 at the home of Gene D. Costales, 67, of Weirton, W. Va.

An extradition hearing for Dinsio and Marshall before Judge Buzzard yesterday, their attorney Jack W. Nybell, cited sections of the Ohio Code wherein the court must allow him time to test the legality of arrests ordered by the governor of the state of Ohio.

Judge Buzzard read the code and also the penalty which calls for a $1,000 fine, or six months in county jail, or both, if the subjects are turned over to West Virginia authorities without giving them their legal rights by law.

He allowed Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan to arrest both Dinsio and Marshall on governors warrants in behalf of the governor

JFK, Pearson Meet Today

Seek To Ease U.S., Canadian Friction

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy and Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson meet today in an effort to patch up the deteriorating relations between the United States and Canada.

The two leaders plan two days of informal talks at this vacation resort on all outstanding problems between the two countries, including nuclear defense and trade.

President Kennedy was to fly from Washington to Otis Air Force Base, arriving at 11 a.m. Pearson was expected to arrive from Ottawa a few minutes later in a Royal Canadian Air Force plane.

The two leaders were to spend most of today and Saturday reviewing the issues which have built up friction between the two countries during the past six years.

Pearson has had similar talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in London, as part of his announced program of trying to restore Canada's prestige in world affairs.

The meeting between Kennedy and Pearson finds relations between the United States and Canada at the lowest point in years. Former Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker was highly critical of the United States on many questions, and he ran in the recent election campaign on an anti-American platform.

The outstanding issue before Kennedy and Pearson is whether Canada will accept nuclear warheads for the Bomarc-B missiles on launching pads at two Canadian bases. Diefenbaker agreed in 1958 to accept nuclear weapons, but Canada and the United States never reached an agreement as to how the weapons would be controlled.

Pearson has pledged that his government will carry out all nuclear commitments made by Canada, but he has made it clear that he is cool to the idea of having nuclear weapons on Canadian soil. Pearson made it clear in advance that the discussions would be informal and that details would have to be worked out later. He said his main purpose was to renew a personal friendship with Kennedy and to establish an atmosphere of cooperation between the two governments.

The No. 2 issue on the agenda was trade. Pearson has indicated that he agrees in principle with Kennedy's program to reduce tariffs by 50 per cent. There is much to work out, however, on specific issues, and this will require negotiations by trade experts.

Lee Anglemeyer Killed In Crash

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Agnes Archer of Salem, and his father, Thomas Anglemeyer of California.

Funeral arrangements are pending.

Strong Soviet Unit Remains on Island

WASHINGTON (AP)—It would take a major amphibious assault coordinated with a paratroop attack, to overcome powerful Soviet-stiffened defenses of Cuba.

This is the current assessment by U.S. intelligence authorities, as reported by the Senate Preparedness subcommittee.

The Senate group's report, made public Thursday, said "the combined Soviet and Cuban forces now in the island are quite powerful defensively and could offer severe opposition to any attack."

The investigators criticized the Central Intelligence Agency and military intelligence authorities for what they said were "substantial errors" in evaluating information indicating a serious missile-arms-troop buildup in Cuba last summer and fall.

The subcommittee showed itself not fully convinced that all the Soviet long range missiles and

Gathering Storm

Next Two Weeks Critical for Haiti's Duvalier

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The next two weeks likely will tell whether Dictator-President Francois Duvalier will ride out a gathering storm which could plunge impoverished Haiti into terrifying violence.

The outwardly calm atmosphere reported in the Haitian capital of Port au Prince may be highly deceptive. As recently as three nights ago there was an outbreak of rifle fire outside the capital in the same area where a pitched battle took place April 30.

Duvalier is feeling the heat of opposition to his regime. A man who once was one of his top lieutenants, who whipped together his army of Tonton Macoute (bo-gymen) goons and later his armed militia, now is out to kill the 55-year-old president.

The man is Clement Barbot. Duvalier once had him in prison but released him. He is still at large and widely regarded as a definite threat to the dictator.

Most people in Port au Prince probably are unaware of the shootings outside the city. A violent clash took place April 30 in the Martissant suburb when a truckload of Duvalier's militia blundered into a Barbot stronghold.

AP News Analysis

hold, according to reports trickling through to neighboring Santo Domingo.

It is assumed the forces clashing with Duvalier's men are commanded by Barbot.

The key dates for Duvalier and his opponents are May 15 and May 22.

May 15 is the date when, under the constitution, Duvalier would have stepped down had he not maneuvered to proclaim himself re-elected two years ago for a six-year term. May 22 is the anniversary of his inauguration. He is reported superstitious about the number 22.

Duvalier's future is a critical matter for the Dominican Republic, whose first democratically elected president in three decades is facing tough inherited problems. President Juan Bosch has troops stationed at the Haitian-Dominican frontier. But nobody in Santo Domingo conversant with the crisis seems to believe that Bosch will order an invasion of Haiti—or ever intended to do so.

Apparently no direct U.S. pressure was applied against the Dominican government to head off an invasion. It is likely the U.S. government did no more than inform Bosch that Washington's policy is aimed firmly at keeping peace in the Caribbean and encourage him to place the dispute before the Organization of American States.

Critical issues between Haiti and the Dominican Republic include safe conduct out of Haiti for Duvalier opponents who took asylum in the Dominican Embassy in Port au Prince, the presence in Haiti of remnants of the Trujillo regime and Bosch's charge that a plot against his life was hatched in Haiti with assistance from former members of Trujillo's secret police.

Red China Unit To Visit Russia

Tactical Skirmish Won by Khrushchev

TOKYO (AP)—Premier Khrushchev has won a preliminary tactical skirmish in his ideological war with Communist China. The first peace talks will be held in Moscow, not in Peking as Communist chieftain Mao Tze-tung had hoped.

Chinese Premier Chou En-lai informed Soviet Ambassador S. V. Chervonenko Thursday that his government accepted Khrushchev's invitation to send a delegation to Moscow to discuss ideological differences splitting the Communist world.

Khrushchev had proposed that Mao head the Chinese delegation, but nobody expected the Chinese boss to agree to that. Chou said the delegation will be headed by Teng Hsiao-ping, top theoretician of the Chinese party, and Peng Chen, mayor of Peking.

Today, as if to dispel any illusion that Peking's "hard line" is weakening, the official Peking People's Daily published a long denunciation of Yugoslavia's new constitution.

Taking a scarcely-concealed slap at Khrushchev, who has accepted the Yugoslav Communists back in the fold as reformed sinners, Peking's mouthpiece said the constitution proves "that they were talking sheer nonsense who consider that the Tito group have shown some repentance and changed their wrong policy."

The Chinese appear trying to win as much support as possible from other Communist parties before the Moscow meeting. President

King Says All Settled But Few Details

But City Officials Claim Agreement No Binding on Them

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Prospects for a final settlement of the Birmingham desegregation campaign were uncertain today despite an optimistic statement by Negro integration leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

King said Thursday night that an agreement virtually had been worked out except for minor details. A series of statements and counterstatements followed.

City officials immediately said any agreement worked out by a biracial committee was not binding on them. The committee, composed of business and civic leaders, has no official status.

Resume Work Today

The committee resumes work today. The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, one of the Negro leaders, said a news conference would be held later.

Both King and Abernathy warned that demonstrations would be resumed if no agreement is reached during the day.

For the second straight day, there were no massive demonstrations Thursday. Earlier demonstrations resulted in the arrests of approximately 2,400 and use of fire hoses and police dogs to disperse negro crowds.

The Negro leaders had called a truce Wednesday while the biracial committee worked for a solution.

King had said at a news conference shortly after noon Thursday that agreement had been reached on two of the four goals of the integration campaign.

Cites Agreement Points

Points on which agreement had been reached, he said then, provided for desegregation of lunch counters and other public facilities in the downtown stores, and improvement of job opportunities for Negroes.

The other two points sought were demands that charges against the 2,400 arrested be dropped, and for the formation of an official committee of Negroes

Shriners to Stage Parade Tomorrow

More than 400 red-fezed Shriners of Cleveland's Al Koran Temple coming to Salem Saturday for a parade at 1:30 p.m. will be met by a committee of Salem Shriners near the intersection of Routes 14 and 62.

The Shriners will have police escort to City Hall, where a parade through Salem's downtown business district will begin at 1:30 p.m., led by officers of Al Koran and a flag unit.

From City Hall, the parade will move north on S. Broadway to State St., and then east to Vine Ave.

From Salem, the caravan, traveling in busses and private automobiles, will go to East Palestine for a similar parade there at 3 p.m., followed by a 4:30 p.m. parade in East Liverpool. In Salem, Noble Arch Wentz, president of the Salem Area Shrine Club, is in charge of parade arrangements.

The caravan to the three Columbiana County cities is, according to an announcement from Al Koran Temple in Cleveland, "in recognition of the yeomen's effort" the Shriners here put into the activities of the Temple whose

Reach In and You'll Find Anything

Cooper's Spacecraft Like Woman's Purse

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut Leroy Gordon Cooper's "Faith 7" spacecraft is like a woman's purse. Reach in and you'll find almost anything.

If Cooper rockets toward his 34-hour space flight as planned next Tuesday, he will carry along such items as an inflatable balloon, four cameras, an exercise device, medical monitoring gear, maps, star charts, medical monitoring devices, geiger counters, a 28-foot expandable radio antenna, shark repellent, a raft, an alarm clock, parachutes and spaghetti and meat sauce.

He'll even carry his own private satellite—a baseball-sized object equipped with flashing beacons which he plans to release into orbit during the third of his intended 22 circuits of the globe.

The longest U.S. manned space flight yet planned is scheduled to start with the roar of an Atlas rocket between 8 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Eastern Standard Time Tuesday. If the mission goes the full distance Cooper's space chariot will parachute to a landing in the Pacific Ocean 80 miles southeast of Midway Island 34 hours 19 minutes later.

Project Mercury officials primarily will seek medical data during the long-duration mission to determine if a man's ability to perform is impaired by prolonged exposure to space weightlessness.

As Cooper sweeps about the globe, medical sensors attached to his body will relay to ground stations information on heartbeat, blood pressure, temperature, respiration and other parameters.

As a means of preventing deterioration of muscle tone during the long weightless period, Cooper plans to exercise by pulling on a bungee cord—a giant stretchable rubberband-like device attached to the spacecraft floor between his feet.

The Air Force Major, 36, will eat regularly to maintain his strength. The menu includes bite-size tidbits and new dehydrated space foods which, when mixed with water, produces spaghetti, beef and gravy, chicken or lobster.

Cooper will rest periodically, and plans to take a nap for eight hours from the ninth to the 15th orbits. If he oversleeps, a ground station in Australia will send a radio alarm signal to wake him.

The inflatable 30-inch balloon, to be ejected on a 100-foot line during the sixth orbit, is to determine drag effect at the orbital altitude 100 to 170 miles high and to check Cooper's ability to judge distances in space.

The flashing beacon satellite, which will trail the capsule in a slightly different orbit, also will be used in a distance-judging test aimed at developing techniques for space rendezvous.

A television camera aboard Faith 7 may give American home viewers their first look at one of their astronauts in orbit.

Geiger counters and other measuring devices will chart the amount of radiation along the orbital path.

Goldwater Receives Most Applause at GOP Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater won the biggest round of applause Thursday night when Republican leaders gathered to honor him at a $1,000-a-plate dinner.

But many of those who cheered the Arizona said later in interviews that they thought the best vote-winner as the 1964 GOP presidential nominee would be Michigan's Gov. George Romney.

There was some talk of California's Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel for vice president.

Final Meeting Until Fall Held by UCT

Members of Salem Council, United Commercial Travelers of America, held their final business meeting until fall when they met Wednesday night in the American Legion Home, with senior counselor John E. Sweet presiding.

William Readshaw spoke on the Boy Scout camping program and the need for additional and improve facilities at the Twin Spruce Camp. Youth Committee chairman Paul E. Brooks, James Coy and Milton Davidson were appointed to investigate and to attempt to plan a suitable program for UCT to aid the scouts.

The group discussed the Salem cancer crusade which they sponsored, and Louis C. Moushey reported the drive to be lagging mainly due to the fact that the direct mail appeal has been unavoidably delayed. The UCT group voted a $50 donation to this fund drive.

Social chairman Milton Davidson announced final plans to hold a ladies night dinner and dance at the Saxson Club May 25.

A lunch was served following the business meeting, with Ray J. Greenisen in charge of arrangements.

Thresher Construction Held 'Excellent'

A-Sub Design Won't Be Changed

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—The disaster that struck the nuclear submarine Thresher one month ago today has not changed the Navy's plans for construction of vessels of the same type.

Rear Adm. Ralph K. James, until April 29 chief of the Navy's Bureau of Ships, told a Navy Court of Inquiry Thursday that the bureau reviewed and found the design "fundamentally excellent and there should be no termination of this program."

The report was accepted by Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth, James said.

The admiral, who retires June 30, also said the Thresher "represented the finest capability in performance and safety in submarines."

After first testifying in open session, James and his successor as chief of the Bureau of Ships, Rear Adm. William A. Brockett, gave further testimony behind closed doors.

It was on a gray morning one month ago that the Thresher sank during a deep sea test dive with the loss of 129 lives 220 miles east of Boston.

Had the disaster struck one cruise before that fatal dive it might have entombed not only crewmen but members of their families as well.

Her last previous venture had been a "petticoat" cruise and dive with the family members of her crew just before she was put in drydock for nine months of overhaul.

The $45-million dollar Thresher disappeared on her next diving venture, April 10.

The Navy says Lt. Cmdr. John W. Harvey would never have issued the traditional submarine order of "submerge the boat" if he felt any imminent danger.

The dive was to have been a test of depth after the overhaul. Thresher went down—never to come up again—in water that is 8,400 feet deep, a depth experts say no submarine could survive.

If she lies on the bottom, the pressure against Thresher's hull is 3,730 pounds per square inch, compared with 32 pounds at sea level.

Search vessels are still trying to locate the sunken Thresher in which are entombed 16 officers, 96 enlisted men and 17 civilian technicians.

Ready to go to her side when the submarine is located is the bathyscaphe Trieste, capable of descending to that depth with men and cameras.

Trying To Find Cause
And a Navy Court of Inquiry is trying to determine what caused Thresher to exceed her depth and plummet to her doom.

In 22 days of court sessions at Portsmouth Naval Shipyard, the court has heard about 90 witnesses and studied more than 130 exhibits, including some two dozen pieces of debris which witnesses said could have come from Thresher.

On April 13, Lt. (j.g.) James D. Watson, navigator of the rescue ship Skylark on escort duty during the Thresher dive, testified before the court that he had heard the submarine "breaking up."

Watson said that, indeed, he did hear a rush of air for a few seconds and then a garbled message from Thresher, the last two words of which were "test depth."

He said the word before those two final words could have been "exceeding," but he wasn't certain.

When the brief rush of air stopped, Watson said, "I heard a sound that is familiar to me from having heard a ship blown up by torpedoes in World War II—the sound of a ship breaking up—a muted, dull thud."

Reservoir Fishing Rights Suspended

The privilege of fishing in the Salem City reservoir was suspended for William Trivelli, 33, of Ravenna, Thursday afternoon by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer.

Trivelli was charged by Ralph Harker, supervisor of the city reservoir, with fishing without a permit and fishing in a restricted area. He pleaded not guilty to the fishing charge, but admitted being at the reservoir about 45 minutes.

One General Health District?

Although Salem is growing, it will be a long time before the city's population will stand at 25,000.

However, as reported yesterday in a Page One story by William Vance, The Salem News' statehouse correspondent, the Ohio House has passed a bill which, if the Senate concurs, will prevent our municipality from handling its own health affairs. According to provisions of the legislation, all Ohio cities under 25,000 population will become part of a central or county health district.

Quite obviously, Columbiana County's four cities—Salem, East Palestine, East Liverpool and Wellsville—would be absorbed into one or two larger health districts. There is one alternative, to disband, but there's no logic to that thinking because health standards must be enforced for the public's welfare.

Salem has had an efficient city health district for many years, with the county general health district handling all problems in the rural and suburban areas where its responsibilities are. We see no good reason for the change.

On a cost basis, Salem may find itself paying more per capita for health services if it becomes part of a county office, in Lisbon perhaps, where all policies and regulations will be set for us.

When the Marines Don't Land

Leo Durocher is starting to recount his experiences as one of baseball's fight-pickers in a national magazine. One of his stories helps to clear up the probably outcome of tension between Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

The only time he ever took a swing at Babe Ruth, recalls Durocher, was in the Yankee locker room while the King of Swat was sitting down, an ideal target for a lunge. Durocher made the lunge.

He knew a locker room fight lasts only long enough for the onlookers to break it up, being as safe in that respect as a fight on the football field, where the combatants cannot hurt each other because of the padding.

By the time Babe Ruth had scrambled off the floor after the Durocher lunge, other players had closed in to stop the fight. The day was saved for Durocher. The question between Haiti and the Dominican Republic is how long it would take to stop a fight between them if it got started.

The Organization of American States, which is deeply concerned, has no military power in being. The United Nations Security Council has no military power in being, either. The only military power in being in the Caribbean is the United States, which is not eager to get involved.

If the U.S. Marines aren't landing on Hispaniola and the fact is known, the chances of war between Haiti and the Dominican Republic are too slim to worry about. It would be as foolhardy to start a fight as it would have been for Leo Durocher to tackle George Hermann Ruth with no one on hand to stop the mayhem.

Not Wisely But Too Well

At a hearing in Washington a few days ago, spokesmen for restaurant and hotel operators again told the Internal Revenue Service their business has been crippled by restrictions on expense-account spending.

They added thereby to an impression made by every spokesman reflecting the views of purveyors of food and entertainment—that their business had depended so heavily on tax-deductible spending that stricter regulations by Congress and IRS were wiping them out.

It does not add up. Granted that luxury restaurants have been hurt grievously, could there be something else involved in their loss of trade, perhaps eagerness of expense-account customers to find an excuse to cut out some of the eating and drinking that were turning so many business people into bad medical risks?

Naturally, no one wanted to be branded a cheapskate by pioneering an austerity crusade in the interest of health. But is it possible the new rules on what was deductible tumbled a social structure already undermined by medical opinion that many business people were hastening their demise by living not wisely but too well?

When they asked for medical advice, they always heard the same story: Cut down and live longer.

Always One Ordinary Indian

Specifications for a revolutionary tanker that could carry 50,000 tons of liquid cargo and operate with a crew of only 14, compared with a crew of 45 for comparable vessels now in existence, were shown at American Petroleum Institute's 1963 tanker conference this year.

One detail in particular sticks in mind. On this highly mechanized and automated ship, every member of the crew would have a special skill, except one member. This fellow would possess all-around skill. He would be an able-bodied seaman. This worthy and two deck stewards would cope with all duties not covered by the skills of the specialists. Expressed another way, it would take 28 per cent of the crew to take care of jobs still remaining to be done after mechanization and automation had done everything else.

Perhaps this is the way it's all going to turn out in the long run. There will have to be one ordinary Indian for every so many chiefs. Someone will have to be handy to do handyman jobs, like changing spools on tape recorders and remembering to oil the dings on the electronic whingus every 5,000 decisions.

For Better Vision

The Salem Lions club is performing a real public service for the community through sponsorship of a glaucoma clinic here Saturday.

Glaucoma, a disease of the eyes which eventually can impair vision, can be corrected if discovered in time.

The Lions, whose principal project is eye conservation, carry out annual tests among public school children and provide glasses for children whose parents are unable to purchase them.

Local residents who have never had a harmless glaucoma test should take advantage of Saturday's clinic at the Memorial Building. The hours are 10 a. m. to 6 p. m., with a doctor in charge.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: Another grass-mowing season is under way here and I suppose you are the same. The whole country is going to grass. You know what that used to mean?

It used to mean the place was neglected and run down; it was not under cultivation and "going to grass." It was being put into the soil bank instead of into production. It was lying fallow.

Now it means the opposite. "Going to grass" is a status symbol. People boast about the size of the lawns they mow. They make a special point of mentioning the mowing equipment they use.

All you need to do is look through one of the national magazines and see the volume of advertising for grass-growing and grass mowing to realize that this has become a giant economic factor.

The obvious reason for the popularity of grass-growing is the power mower. When I am using the little dandy that chops off the grass at our place I think back tearfully at the way your aunt used to bend her back to the chore of pushing a hand mower over our acreage.

That girl was a bear for work. But as years passed she began to slow down. I had to buy smaller mowers for her to push, until at the end she was down to one of those 18-inch toys, suitable for city residences.

When power mowers became common, I was able to upgrade her, until she was back to full-scale equipment. In the meantime, however, I added more grass to be mowed. Last summer I had the old girl back up to three acres, including shrubbery.

She is pestering me to get her one of those toy tractors with a gear shift, steering wheel, a little tool box and upholstered seat. This is absurd. It would not be good for her to be jolted about on one of those things. Half the value of her lawn-mowing is to keep her legs in shape.

You can testify as a long-time observer that no woman her age, except that incredible Frenchwoman Mistinguette, ever had better looking legs than your Aunt Effie's. She owes it all to exercise.

Lawn-mowing in summer and snow-clearing in winter can keep any housewife in shape. I am genuinely glad another mowing season is here because the old girl has been putting it on around the middle. After all, we hadn't had any snow to clear away for a long time and she was softening up.

I mention this out of kindness. I know you, too, are a busy man with many important things on your mind. If necessary, buy your missus a riding mower, but under any circumstances teach her to mow grass for her own sweet sake.

Give my regards to all and especially to your wife.

Defense Department Civilians Usurping Powers

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Sooner or later, the Congress of the United States will have to assume the responsibility specifically imposed by the Constitution to see to it that military functions are performed hereafter by military men and not by civilian officials.

Was the latest change in the Joint Chiefs of Staff a rebuff to Adm. George W. Anderson Jr., the head of the United States Navy, because he courageously refused to agree with the civilian secretary of defense on military policies essential to strategy? The episode has focused attention on the confusion in military planning which prevails today.

While the president is designated by the Constitution as the "commander-in-chief" of the armed forces, it is the sole duty of Congress "to declare war . . . to raise and support armies . . . to provide and maintain a navy . . . to make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces."

Yet the role of Congress seems to have been relegated to that of an investigator after the damage has been done. Military men with an expert knowledge of strategy are not permitted today to decide what are the best weapons. Civilians, with eyes on the political effects desired by the administration for certain states with big electoral votes, make the final decisions.

The admiral had said unequivocally in his testimony that it was his duty as a naval officer to question the wisdom of the decision of the secretary of defense in awarding the TFX aviation contract.

As for the merits of this dispute,

Congress is looking into them now. It seems unfortunate that an impression should be conveyed that Adm. Anderson actually is being punished for adhering to his sincere convictions as a military man.

THE WHITE HOUSE explanation is that several members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in recent years have served only a single two-year term anyhow. But it has been taken for granted that competent chiefs still far away from retirement age could be given two terms.

It's noted, moreover, that on the same day that the termination of Adm. Anderson's service was announced, I was made known that Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, chief of the Air Force, would get only a one-year extension of his two-year term. He, too, had opposed the secretary of defense in connection with the award of the TFX contract.

What seems not to have been taken into account is the fact that, as long as the power to extend the tenure beyond his two-year term exists in a flexible form, a question will be raised as to why a competent and efficient military chief like Adm. Anderson wasn't continued in office, especially since he happens to be only 56 years old and his successor, just appointed, also is 56.

The prevailing view at the Pentagon among military men is that Secretary McNamara is demanding absolute conformity to his views.

Sen. Richard Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, has just said that Adm. Anderson's concept of the role of the Navy in today's national defense strategy is as sound as any he knows.

THERE HAVE BEEN conflicts between the civilian and military viewpoints under past administrations, too, but in a period of crisis in the world, it could be a grave mistake to change commanders unless some circumstance makes it absolutely necessary.

If there is such a circumstance, Congress is entitled to know it.

If the incident was the result merely of a failure to please the secretary of defense, the country ought to know the risks involved.

The simple truth is that the scheme for a unification of the armed services, which was instituted after World War II, has not worked very well.

The Korean War was really lost to the West because the joint chiefs were unduly influenced by civilian pressures.

During World War I and World II, on the other hand, the chiefs of the Army and Navy sat at the president's elbow. There was no one between them and the commander-in-chief.

The purpose of Congress in creating the Defense Department primarily was to secure co-ordination in many matters of administration, especially questions that are largely of a non-military nature. It never was intended that the secretary of defense would become virtually a commander-in-chief of the Army, Navy and Air Force.

But the formula now has been broadened to permit the secretary of defense to take over many of the duties of the commander-in-chief and, in effect, decide on the strategy that shall be followed. Thus he decides, for instance, what weapons should be bought.

SECRETARY McNAMARA, it has just been officially stated, made the recommendation to President Kennedy that Am. Anderson be replaced and that Gen. LeMay be appointed for only one year instead of the normal two-year term.

High officers who dare to oppose the secretary can be deprived of promotions and otherwise intimidated. It isn't a healthy situation for the military operations of the United States. It could impair the morale of military throughout the country.

A thorough investigation of the usurpation of power by the civilians in the Defense Department, from top to bottom, is really needed. For there is only one civilian who has been given the power under the Constitution to govern the military branch of the government and that is the president of the United States — and there is no power in the Constitution which enables him to delegate military functions to anybody but his subordinate military officers.

Nixon's Future Role

others in Europe — for it has an international division.

That's the word in the "way in" group of the highest Republican circles at New York and Washington. How "soon" is soon. Those who know say it could be in a few months, but certainly before the end of the year.

He will not, of course, relinquish his new association with a big downtown Broad Street law firm.

But the chairmanship of the board of the pharmaceutical corporation will give Dick Nixon exactly what he has wanted ever since his defeat in California. It will give his close friends here exactly what they have wanted for him since the last election.

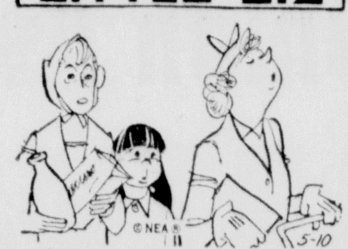

FIRST IT WILL give him financial independence and enable him to meet the unusually high expenses he must incur to live on a status side of the town, to travel and to select the most advantageous of the many speaking dates and writing assignments he will be offered.

It will keep him noncontroversial and away from the necessity of handling firms which attempt to sell hardware to the government and the Defense Department.

Republican sources of this report recall that important GOP policy makers once sought to give Gen. Douglas MacArthur similar independence. But for many reasons, political and nonpolitical, and the fact that the general became head of a firm dealing with the government, the effort faded away.

Former Republican presidential candidate Thomas E. Dewey, who still has great influence in GOP ranks, has neutralized himself on many issues by representing several foreign governments. Nixon is expected to eschew this.

An inside group of Republicans want Dick Nixon to remain free of "such entangling alliances." By associating himself with the pharmaceutical firm Nixon will be able to write, speak and issue statements on foreign policy. He will be able to turn foreign correspondent during his coming European trip.

HIS SUPPORTERS want him to take over the Republican party's "center" and hold it — on national as well as international affairs. They believe he has weight with the liberal wing of the party — as well as with the "non-extreme conservatives."

"Dick Nixon is positively not going out of politics," one of the highest Republican policy makers in the land said to this columnist the other day. "He will attempt to become an independent voice representing the center of the party. He will also be the spokesman for an influential group of men here in New York. They are vital in the media field, in financial circles, in industrial circles. Thus as he becomes more outspoken, he will become one of the few strong voices of the Republicans."

Add to this his ability to raise political funds among his friends.

Thus Dick Nixon will develop into a powerful figure in Republican ranks, it was said. He can do this right across the board in New York as he could not have done it in California. His new residence is in the Republican stronghold, the 17th Congressional District represented by Rep. John Lindsay — whom many in the GOP want to run for state office. Local Republicans already have contacted Nixon. He has agreed to be active.

He has not the slightest thought now of running for office. At 50 years of age, he can afford to

IF THE STRATEGY of his friends and himself develops as they plan it, he will be the most powerful noncontender at the '64 GOP nominating convention. If the Republicans win the, he can help build the cabinet as Tom Dewey did for Dwight Eisenhower including the head of the Labor Department. What Nixon wants, say some of his friends, is the post of secretary of state.

Much of this was worked out when Nixon was here during the first week in March. It was then that he decided to move East and back into politics without thought to office but with thoughts of becoming the advisor to presidents.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: If you can help with this one the entire office force will be eternally grateful. A certain woman who works with us has a habit of emphasizing her remarks by hitting people in the ribs or landing her fist on a shoulder or a back.

These are not love-taps, Ann. They are enough to knock a person off balance. Nobody will go to a movie or a play with her any more because her blows have actually caused black-and-blue marks.

We have tried to break her of the habit by making a joke of it but she just doesn't realize that we are kidding on the square. She goes along her merry way, punching, hitting, shoving and knocking people around.

Please publish this letter. She may see herself and cut it out. Thanks in advance—BATTERED AND BRUISED.

Dear B and B: Here's the letter but don't count on her "seeing herself." The habit is an unconscious one.

The only way to cure her is to stop kidding and tell her what she is doing. When she lands a blow, belt her right back and say, "Now this is what I mean—B TH AR OD what I mean." After awhile she'll keep her hands to herself.

No Sitter for Sitter

Dear Ann: You've always taken the position that the sitter should NOT be permitted to have visitors while on the job. My sister refused to sit unless she could have this privilege — so I agreed. Now I see how right you are.

Last Friday I engaged the girl from 7:30 p.m. until midnight. My husband and I arrived home about 11:30. She and her boy friend were in the den and the hi-fi was going full blast. They were dancing.

Our 3-year-old had gotten out of bed, pulled up a chair to the bathroom medicine cabinet and taken down several bottles of pills. We could not learn whether he had swallowed any pills, so we rushed him to the hospital and had his stomach pumped out.

Fortunately, the child is all right. But had the girl not had a visitor she might have heard the boy moving about upstairs, or checked him periodically to see if he was in bed where he belonged. — NO MORE SITTERS WHO NEED SITTERS TO SIT WITH THEM.

Dar No More: Your experience pointed up another good reason to prohibit guests for sitters.

My central objection is the cozy setup which the sitting job provides. The girl who refuses to sit unless she can entertain her boy friend may well be using the job to do things she can't do in her own home.

Canadian Triangle

Dear Ann: I've always been considered a steady person with common sense — not the type you'd think would end up writing to Ann Landers. But here I am. I'm a teacher with a good position in northern Ontario. My fiancée is teaching in Niagara Falls. Betty and I exchange letters several times a week but see each other only during long holidays.

In spite of my efforts to keep busy I've become strongly attracted to another young woman. I feel like a rat because I've kept Betty waiting for three years. I'm sure she has been true to me and has passed up other opportunities to date. Betty is a fine girl and I'd rather die than hurt her.

Shall I marry her this summer as planned? I want to do the honorable thing but I'm afraid I'm in love with the girl here.—DUNCAN CAP.

Dear Cap: Do nothing until you see Betty. After renewing the relationship in person, if you STILL feel the other girl is the one for you, by all means, level with your fiancée. There's nothing "honorable" about marrying a girl you don't love.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Overly Developed Fears

Everyone is afraid of something. The newborn shows fear of loud noises and of suddenly being dropped. These are instinctive fears.

Other fears develop as the child grows. He must, of course, be taught useful fears, such as fear of fire sharp objects. This can be done without burning or cutting him, as a few misguided parents have done.

Because of his natural dependence on his mother, the infant of about 2 may develop a marked fear of separation from her, and may make a great fuss whenever she must leave him.

THIS IS SEEN IN its worst form when the mother has had

The Granges

Mt. Nebo Has Inspection

Twenty-eight attended the annual inspection of Mr. Nebo Grange Wednesday evening at the grange hall, with Past Deputy Master Jack Pozenel as inspecting officer. The second degree was presented by the grange.

Mrs. Mary Frantz, lecturer, presented a program on "The World of Tomorrow," as her theme. Ernest Tullis, Glen Bartholow and Jerry Boyer presented instrumental music and songs.

A poem, "The World of Tomorrow," written by Mrs. Elmer Day, a member, was read by Mrs. Frantz. A pageant was presented by Mrs. Robert Rockwell, Mrs. A. A. Rudebeck, Mrs. Harold Seibrell, Mrs. Carl Bailey and Miss Kathryn Bailey.

Piano music was presented by S. D. Bailey, and group singing was enjoyed. Ray Davis discussed "Trends in Agriculture."

Mrs. Merle McPherson's team won a contest over the team of Guy Frantz.

A decorated cake was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pozenel of West Point, outgoing county grange deputies, and another cake was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Morlan, master and secretary of Mt. Nebo Grange who succeeded the Pozenels.

Miscellaneous store items were displayed by Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Pickering.

Announcement was given of the Rural Life Sunday program to be held at Mt. Nebo Grange hall May 19 and the Demeter Club banquet June 3 at Calcutta Grange Hall beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The luncheon committee was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Tullis and Mr. and Mrs. Bailey. The grange's next meeting will be May 22 at 8 p.m. at the grange hall.

Meetings Set Monday By Rogers Groups

ROGERS — The Rogers Volunteer Firemen will meet Monday night at 8 at the Community hall. President Howard Wise announces.

The Fire Belles Auxiliary of the department will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Community Hall. Committees will be given reports pertaining to the recent penny supper and discuss coming events. President Mrs. Leo Jenkins said.

to be separated from him unavoidably for several days. Memory of this may contribute greatly to his fear of going to bed. In such a case it is better to leave his bedroom door open and leave a dim light on if he wants it. The noise of normal stirring about in other parts of the house, far from keeping him awake, will reassure him and he will drop off to sleep.

Although you will want your child to grow up with enough of the right fears to protect himself from harm, overprotectiveness on your part will increase his fears and make him unduly timid.

As a child's imagination develops, his curiosity grows. He brings things that happen to other persons into his picture of himself. Thus at the age of 4 or 5, when he hears that someone has died, he may ask whether he, too, will die.

FRIGHTENING stories or television programs are often a factor in aggravating fear of personal catastrophe or death. I have just received a letter from a mother whose 5-year-old daughter has developed such a horror of death that she doesn't want to grow up, and is terrified of the thought of heaven.

This presents a tough problem for the parents, because in most children the fear of death can be assuaged by glowing accounts of heaven and by telling them that death is a long way off.

In most children a happy home life and the opportunity to play with others their own age pushes abnormal fears into the background. This child should be encouraged to talk about her fears and to act them out with her dolls and with other children.

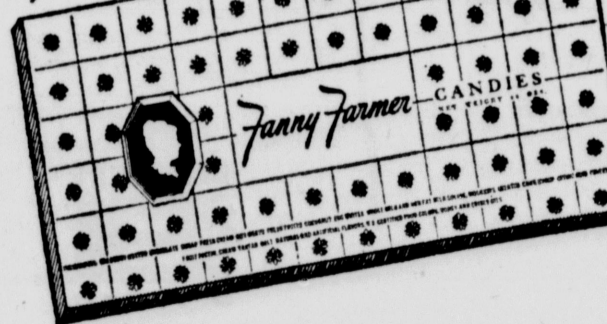

HER IDEAS should be listened to with quiet sympathy. They should not be ridiculed, but should be treated matter-of-factly. If the child is kept busy and if her interest in the wonderful world she doesn't want to leave is stimulated, she will gradually overcome her fears.

If, while she is going through this rather trying phase, she should have night terrors she should be awakened, encouraged to tell about them, held for a few minutes, and reassured that everything is all right — and above all, that she is loved. This should quiet her sufficiently so that she can go back to peaceful sleep.

IT WOULD SEEM that all of us relish being scared from time to time, otherwise there would be no market for horror stories and horror movies. They probably make us more appreciative of our own lot in life, no matter how wearisome. They should not, however, be a part of the fare served up to young children.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

Dear Heloise: Would you please see if you can locate the correct information on a problem that has been discussed many times in our neighborhood. Namely . . . what is the difference between white and yellow vinegar?

Dear Mr. King: Here is the answer to your question from a man who is in the vinegar business:

"As far as I am concerned there is but one distilled vinegar and that is one which is made with grain."

"Some vinegars are made with acetic acid and sugar with coloring added and I believe that is what people are referring to as yellow distilled vinegar."

"Then, there are the apple cider vinegars that some people may think are yellow but some brands are actually red."

"Cider vinegars are made from apples. Recipes should either call for white distilled vinegar or apple cider vinegar."

"White distilled vinegar can be used for any cleaning or for all purposes. Some people may prefer apple cider for salads, canning, and so forth. But for myself I prefer white distilled vinegar made with grain for all purposes."

"Some types of vinegar are stronger than others and may need to be weakened sometimes. 'If distilled vinegar is made with grain instead of acetic acid, then it will state this on the bottle!'"

"Grain vinegar is stronger and more expensive than acetic but goes much farther."

"I hope this information will help you."

WOODROW WILSON MATLOCK.

THANKS MR. MATLOCK.

And gals . . . Heloise is now using white vinegar! I still like the yellow types for my salads though.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: To get a smoother frosting job done on butter or shortening-type frostings when icing a cake, I go over the newly frosted cake with a knife which has been dipped in hot water. This gives the cake a glossy smoother finish.

I removed some rust spots on some white things the other day by dropping lemon juice on the rust spot and holding it over the tea kettle spout.

MRS. E. G.

DEAR HELOISE: I removed some permanent-type starch in some of my white things by soaking it in rubbing alcohol until the slipperiness disappeared and then washed it in hot soapy water. One must test the garment to see if it is safe to use alcohol. This is the only way I know to remove permanent starch.

FRIEND.

DEAR HELOISE: I see many people write that they have water marks on their furniture caused by moisture from a vase of flowers.

I wonder if they know . . . that if they slip a piece of waxed paper under the vase there will be no mark and thus same more troubles?

OLIVE.

DEAR HELOISE: I am using a new plastic garbage can to store my two weeks supply of survival food. In event of an evacuation notice, the can may be placed quickly in the car. When we arrive at the designated location (or as far as our gas will take us) the can can be emptied and used for storage of water.

MRS. C.E.M.

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

Pope Gets $160,000 Peace Prize

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII today received the $160,000 Balzan Peace Prize and said the honor and glory should go to God. He vowed to continue striving for world peace.

The 81-year-old Pontiff appeared somewhat tired as he walked slowly into the pontifical throne room for the first brief presentation ceremony. But a smile brightened his face.

Reports that the Pope has cancer of the stomach have revived following word that he suffered a brief relapse Tuesday stemming from serious illness of last November.

The Pope's doctor, Prof. Antonio Gasbarrini, who has denied the cancer report in the past, said: "I can say nothing about it. I am bound by professional secrecy."

Italian President Antonio Segni made the Peace award on behalf of the Swiss-Italian Balzan Foundation, established by the heirs of an anti-Fascist Italian newspaper editor of the 1930s. The award to the Pope was the second, the first having gone last year to the Nobel Foundation.

Rogers Crash Victim Critical

James Quetot of Rogers, Wednesday traffic accident victim, has been placed on the critical list by authorities at the South Side Unit of Youngstown Hospital.

Doctors performed a tracheotomy on the 19-year-old youth Thursday afternoon to permit him to breathe more easily. Numbered among his injuries were fractured legs, fractured right arm, broken facial bones and lacerations of the mouth.

Quetot was seated on the passenger side of a car driven by his cousin, Donald L. Rader, 29, of West Mayfield, Pa., when the auto plowed into a bridge abutment Wednesday at 5:15 p.m. on Route 154 just west of Rogers.

Rader, admitted to Salem City Hospital with lacerations, was discharged today following treatment.

The Lisbon barracks of the State Highway Patrol, which investigated the crash, has issued no citation, pending further study, a patrolman said this morning.

Quetot's first name was reported to the State Highway Patrol as "Felix", which was reported in yesterday's Salem News. Relatives report his given name is James.

Atty. Thomas Coe's two-vote victory margin over Atty. Scott McCorkhill, for Salem city solicitor remains unchanged, following the Columbiana County Board of Election's official count which was completed Thursday night.

Coburn 278

U.S. Navy Task Force Cruising In Haiti Waters

Aboard the USS Boxer in Gonaives Gulf (AP) — A U.S. Navy task force of eight ships and about 2,000 men cruised leisurely within sight of Haiti today, sweating out any possible call for the withdrawal of American citizens.

The vessels moved in international waters of the Gulf of Gonaives 10 miles or more off the coast of mountainous Hispaniola, the big island uneasily shared by Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

The gulf is a broad inlet from the Windward Passage, which separates Haiti and Cuba by 50 miles.

It is two weeks since the Haitian crisis developed, but members of the task force have had no call for emergency service.

The Boxer, a carrier base for more than 20 helicopters, is the largest ship in the task force. Its equipment includes three varieties of jeeps. One variety, the Mule, mounts 106mm recoilless rifles.

Wednesday night, the Boxer took aboard newsmen for the first time in the current alert.

The ships cruise over a variety of rectangular and triangular courses. They include the attack cargo ship Ranken, the dock landing ship Fort Menden, the tank landing ship Lorain County, the high-speed transport E. B. Hall, the destroyers Putnam and Bigelow, and the command ship Taconic.

Cuba

bombers have been pulled out of Cuba. It said intelligence chiefs admit "there is reason for grave concern" that such weapons might be hidden in some of the country's thousands of caves.

But apart from questioning the latest intelligence estimate of 17,500 Soviets in Cuba, the Senate group appeared to accept the professionals' judgments on the state of Cuba's ground, air and sea defenses.

Cuban army strength was listed as about 185,000, the same as before the crisis last fall. Of these, 75,000 are believed regulars and the rest militia and home guard.

The core of Soviet ground power in Cuba was said to comprise about 5,000 men in four mobile, powerfully armored units.

These Soviet army units, if coordinated with Cuban native forces, could put up tough enough opposition "to make it necessary to mount a large seaborne landing effort along with any desired airborne effort in order to be sure of success," the report said.

Another requirement would be adequate air cover, the senators said.

The Senate report indicated the Soviets are retaining control of the heaviest hardware, anti-aircraft missiles, coastal defense missiles and probably 42 late model MIG21 jet fighters.

For the first time, it was said flatly that the Soviet navy operates 12 highspeed patrol boats, each armed with a pair of missiles with a range of up to 15 miles.

"These boats are under Soviet control, but Cubans are believed to have been observed aboard them," the investigators said.

Clinic

Central Clinic and Hospital administrator Albert Hanna said:

"The hospital is, indeed, a career center, for it needs nearly every skill, profession, talent and trade. Some hospitals list more than 200 job classifications including engineers, stenographers, medical records librarians, cooks, laundry workers, as well as the paramedical professional workers, such as nurses, therapists and technicians."

At the Central Clinic and Hospital, a new wing has been added which provides a new emergency department on the first floor and a new laboratory and enlarged X-ray department on the second floor. Several rooms have been remodeled and refurbished to provide additional facilities for patients.

A patient and visitors lounge has been provided at the south end of the second floor corridor. A new entrance and information desk has been constructed to accommodate visitors entering the building from the recently constructed parking lot west of the building.

The reception for the open house has been planned by the Salem branch of the Women's Auxiliary of Salem Hospitals, under the direction of Mrs. William J. McKay, president.

Pact

and white persons to deal with racial problems.

Shortly after King's comment Thursday night that only minor details remained to be worked out, his top aide, the Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker, said there appeared to be some misunderstanding about what King meant.

He said King issued this statement to clarify it:

"Things are almost worked out, but there are still some last-minute details to be dealt with." He did not say what details.

Not Committed To Pact

Mayor Alber Boutwell and the man he defeated for the post in a recent election, Police Commissioner Eugene (Bull) Connor, said they were not committed to any agreement worked out by the bi-racial committee.

"I have not been party to the recent negotiations between private citizens of both races," Boutwell said. "I have made no commitment with reference to any agreement worked out by the bi-racial committee."

"I regard it as an unwarranted presumption for anyone to infer or suggest that there has been a 'truce' between the city of Birmingham and any who have violated the law."

Negro Comedian Dick Gregory was released from the Birmingham jail on bond Thursday after being held four days on a charge of parading without a permit. Gregory was arrested Monday leading the first group of an estimated 1,000 marchers — mostly teen-agers. They also were arrested.

Gregory said at a news conference that he was beaten while confined in jail. Police Chief Jamie Moore denied it and asked U.S. Atty. Macon L. Weaver to investigate the charges.

Most of the Negro children arrested in the demonstration were released in custody of their parents who signed a $250 "straw bond"—requiring no posting of money.

The workmen were employees of a wrecking firm tearing down the church to make way for an expressway.

'The Great Escape'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the oldest Hollywood truisms holds that a film must have a strong love interest to be a box office success.

But "Lawrence of Arabia," which won an Oscar as the year's best movie, avoided the boy-meets-girl theme for four sand-filled hours. Where the late Cecil B. DeMille would have employed hundreds of thinly clad actresses, Producer Sam Spiegel relied on hundreds of camels.

Now another producer, John Sturges, has gambled against Hollywood tradition by turning out a picture that has 600 heroes—and not a single heroine.

Sturges' kiss-free epic, "The Great Escape," tells in almost documentary detail one of the great adventure yarns of all time.

It is the story of how 600 captured Allied airmen plotted for months to escape from a German prison camp in the second World War.

Under the noses of Nazi guards, they sank 30-foot-deep shafts and dug not one but three tunnels.

Seventy-six men finally crawled through one 348-foot tunnel to temporary freedom. Only three men finally escaped, and 50 of the 73 recaptured airmen were shot to death by their enraged Nazi pursuers.

As one who rose from private to captain and won four battle stars himself in the Air Force, Sturges says he felt a personal compulsion to avoid making war look glamorous.

"Films that do that are dishonest," he said. "War isn't all sweet Dixie. War separates the men and the boys, and then kills the men. Most of the goof-offs survive."

Since war then is such an unglamorous ordeal in misery, fear and loneliness, why should a picture be made about war at all, even one that tells the truth about it? Surges, who turned out 45 documentaries and training films during the last war, said he had brooded over this a great deal.

"Most good stories involve taking a character that interests you, subjecting him to pressure, and showing the result," he replied. "War certainly does that."

Ellsworth Zoning Plans Is Prepared

ELLSWORTH — The Township trustees and members of the Zoning Committee of Ellsworth Township met recently to draw up a zoning ordinance for the township.

They are Albert Rowbotham from the northeast, Harold Brown from the northwest, Arthur Royer from the southeast, Harold Barnes from the southwest, and Francis Bare Jr. from the center.

It is hoped that this survey and the necessary approval of the County Planning Commission may be completed in time for the vote on zoning to take place this Fall.

Washington Hits Grant Hard To Blank Indians 6-0

Ed Brinkman Clouts Homer

Tribe Starts Series With Detroit Today

DETROIT (AP) — The Cleveland Indians will try to get back to the .500 mark tonight when Gary Bell (2-1) faces Detroit's Phil Regan (1-3) in the opener of a three-game series.

The Indians dropped to a 10-11 record for the season when Dave Stenhouse tossed a seven-hitter and the Washington Senators won 6-0 Thursday night.

The loser was Jim (Mudcat) Grant (2-3), and when Grant loses to Washington, that's news. The Senators snapped a 12-game losing spell against Grant in Washington and have only beaten the Indians' righthander five times in 25 decisions.

Grant was chased in the fourth inning after hot-hitting Ed Brinkman slammed a three-run homer. The Mudcat surrendered seven of Washington's eight hits and all six runs. Even the arrival of James Timothy Grant III Wednesday night in a Cleveland hospital didn't provide a charm.

Fred Whitfield had three of Cleveland's hits. The others were by Woodie Held, John Romano, Willie Kirkland and Tony Martinez.

Grant was hit hard, but part of his downfall stemmed from three errors. The pitcher made one himself and the others were by Romano and Martinez.

The Senators scored their first run in the second inning, then scored two in the third and three in the fourth.

SJBL Clinic Is Scheduled For Saturday

The Salem Junior Baseball League will hold a clinic at Memorial Park, west diamond, Saturday at 10 a.m.

Instructions and basic fundamentals will be given to boys six years of age and older who want to learn how to play baseball.

After the lessons are completed, the boys will be formed into teams to play a regular schedule of games.

Parents should accompany their sons and bring with them medical release forms.

A total of 158 have signed up for the clinic so far.

Players are still needed for teams in the Class F division, boys 13-15 years of age. Anyone who would like to try out for various position in the loop is to report to John Herman Jr., league president at Memorial Park Saturday at 10 a.m.

A new rule this year, passed by the league executive committee, makes it mandatory for all boys to play at least two innings in each game.

In Class H, all games will be six innings, and seven innings will be played in Class G, regardless of score.

Salem Softball Assn. Will Meet Tonight

The Salem Softball Association will hold a special meeting at the Memorial Building tonight at 7.

All officers, managers and umpires are urged to attend the session as the schedule will be drawn up and new rules discussed.

The loop plans to get under way Monday at Kelly Park. Sponsors have been difficult to find, and it looks as though the Class "A" and "AA" loops will have to combine this season, it was reported.

A total of four double A units and eight A aggregations will compete in two divisions.

Interested teams in the Lisbon, Columbiana, Alliance, Sebring and Canfield area are reminded that tonight is the deadline for entries.

Nation's Top Pros Enter $110,000 Cleveland Open

CLEVELAND — Fresh from his victory in the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas, Jack Nicklaus joins the others of golf's glamorous triumvirate, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player, as the first entries in the $110,000 Cleveland Open tournament. It will be played at the Beechmont Country Club June 27-30, the week after Nicklaus defends his U.S. Open title.

These three stars who currently dominate money golf are all managed by a Clevelander, Mark McCormack, which assures their competing here and which automatically guarantees the strongest possible field for the tournament.

Between them, they have won everything in golf. Nicklaus and Palmer have won the National Amateur, the National Open, the Masters and Palmer also has taken the British Open. Player has won the British Open, the Masters and the American P.G.A.

Although an Ohioan, from Columbus, Nicklaus will be competing in Cleveland for the first time. The 23-year-old pudgy blond was only 16 when he shocked the Buckeye state by licking the pros in the Ohio Open but he never did win the Ohio amateur in several attempts. The state amateur hasn't been played on a Cleveland course since Jackie began competing.

There have been many Ohio amateur champions but none has reached the Nicklaus heights except Palmer himself who won the state crown while representing the Pine Ridge club of Cleveland. And, on the current record, Nicklaus has surpassed Palmer. Last year in the head-to-head playoff, Nicklaus beat Palmer for the U.S. Open title and later in the summer he beat both Palmer and Player for the $50,000 prize in the World Series of Golf between the major champions, winners of the Open, the Masters, the British Open and the P.G.A.

This year, Nicklaus beat Palmer to both the Masters and Las Vegas titles. The $110,000 event is a civic operation with eight Cleveland firms as the sponsors. Net proceeds will go to the Cleveland Press Helping Hand Fund which is administered by the Cleveland Welfare Federation.

The easy-going Georgian with the unorthodox swing whittled three strokes from the grudging Colonial course Thursday during an afternoon marked by the disqualification of Don January.

January, who was invited to the tournament only after a lengthy PGA-Colonial controversy, played the wrong ball on the eighth hole and was forced to withdraw when he discovered his error.

Sanders' 67 gave him a one-shot lead over Bill Collins of Grosinger, N.Y. Jerry Barber and Bob Rosburg were the only other pros to dent the sprawling 7,021-yard layout's regulation 70, each registering 69s.

Packed in a six-way tie for fifth with 71s were Jack Nicklaus, Bruce Crampton, Gardner Dickinson Jr., Phil Rodgers, Tony Lema and Julius Boros.

Lipscomb, who was traded to the Steelers by the Baltimore Colts two seasons ago, was taken to the hospital around dawn.

Lipscomb was one of the stars of the professional game. He weighed 288 pounds and stood 6-foot-6. He was 31 and had played 10 years in the National Football League. He came to professional football without the benefit of college experience.

Lipscomb reached the peak of his career in 1958 and 1959 when he made the All-Pro team.

Cincy Crushes Houston 13-2; Warren's White Clouts Grand Slam As Cards Win

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer Frank Robinson, a notoriously slow starter, went 5-for-5 and drove in seven runs on two homers, two singles and a double

Thursday night as Cincinnati erupted for its biggest offensive output of the season and crushed Houston 13-2. It was easily Robinson's best night and gave every indication that his bat, usually rather quiet in April, is beginning to point toward the ball like a diving rod. The 27-year-old right-handed swinger now has six homers and 22 runs batted in.

The St. Louis Cardinals bombed the Los Angeles Dodgers for 17 hits, including a grand slam homer by Bill White, in a 10-7 victory.

White Sox Shut Out Yanks 2-0 Behind Herbert Hurling

By BOB GREEN Associated Press Sports Writer Ray Herbert was just another good journeyman pitcher before he made his way to Chicago. But there, under manager Al Lopez, he found the magic touch.

Herbert hadn't caused many sensations in 8 seasons at Detroit and Kansas City, although he won almost as many as he lost. One season he even won more than he lost.

Then came the trade to Chicago. Last year, his first full season with the White Sox, he had a 20-9 record and led the league in won-lost percentage.

This season his start is even better. He's 4-1 and all the victories have been shutouts, the last three in a row. The last was a two-hit, 2-0 blanking of the New York Yankees Thursday night that protected the White Sox' one-game lead atop the standings and dropped the Yankees to fifth.

Throneberry Is Optioned To Buffalo

NEW YORK (AP)—This, then, is the end of an era. Marvelous Marv is gone.

And a lot of the clown has gone out of the New York Mets.

Marv Throneberry, whose play around first base made him the living symbol of the hapless Mets last season, has been optioned to Buffalo of the International League.

Perhaps by coincidence, the Mets suddenly are acting most un-Met-like. They've won four in a row, the last two with ninth inning rallies. Their pitching has been good, at times spectacular. They're getting just enough hitting. Their fielding is above reproach and they haven't pulled a "rock in a week."

Which isn't at all like the Mets of a year ago who, as personified by the luckless Throneberry, lost a record 120 games.

"Things just seem to happen to me," Throneberry once remarked of his play. And indeed they did. Usually they were bad things. Or at least comical.

Not that Marv planned it that way. It just happened. And, in one year, he became a legend in his own time.

That, however, didn't prevent him from losing the regular first base job to Tim Lincecum and rookie Ed Kranepool. So Marvelous Marv was shuffled off to Buffalo Thursday in the Mets' cut-down to a roster of 25.

Mrs. Carrie Slagle of Columbus, president of the Ohio Women's Bowling Association, will be on hand when the seventh annual "open house" women's pin tournament gets underway at Timmerlan Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

Odeus "Soph" Paparadis, director of the event, said "We have already surpassed last year's entries, and several more teams are expected to sign up by deadline time tonight."

So far 170 squads are in the fold. A total of 147 competed a year ago.

Salem's Olive Ramsey, president of the Columbiana County Women's Bowling Association, and Dorris Boutton, secretary, will also be present for the ribbon cutting ceremonies Saturday.

This year's winner will walk off with first prize money of $300. Second place will receive $200 and $100 will go to the team finishing third.

Some of the outstanding women's teams from West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Ohio have entered the tourney.

MALINA INSURANCE of Cleveland took top honors in the men's pin tournament completed last weekend with a 3,172 series and the champs will receive $500 first prize money.

Paparadis pointed out that 123 of the teams that participated in the pin classic are included in the cash prize list.

Four Salem units finished in the top 20. Grate's was second with a 1,008-1,029-1,113-1,150 series good for $300.

Salem Concrete and Supply was 13th with a 3,060 series. Parker's Chevrolet No. 2 ended up 16th with a 3,052 three-game set, and City Cab Cadillacs paced 20th with a 3,042 pin total.

In the third spot is Unlucky 5 of Youngstown with 3,127. It will get a $200 cash prize.

Nemo's Pennzoil of Bellaire finished fourth with 3,112, followed by Montic Mason's of Louisville, 3,103; Art's Cafe, 3,102; Odd Bats of Canton, 3,092; Waggoner's of Ohio Service of Youngstown, 3,074; C & L, 3,073; and Turner's South, 3,073.

IF YOU LIKE track, it will be worth your time to take in the Warren Invitational Track and Field Meet Saturday afternoon and evening following tonight's Columbiana County meet.

At least five of the state's best school boys will see action in the fifth annual carnival. Bill Lenkaitis and Alan Bogan of Youngstown South will be featured in the parade of athletes. Lenkaitis, 6-4, 230-pound star, has heaved the discus 161 feet, 11 inches which ranks as the second best toss in the state.

Bogan has the fourth fastest time in the state for the 180-yard low hurdles. He was clocked in 20 seconds for his best effort about a week ago.

A great race is expected in the mile run between Dave Brooks of Ravenna, winner in the Class AA district meet last season, and Jim Tillman of Akron North.

The Ravens' star has run the distance in 4:28.2, while the Orientals' flash has a 4:28.3 clocking. Their times are the second and third fastest in the state.

Bill Daggett of Akron East is one of the top high jumpers, having cleared 6 feet, 3 inches.

WITH THE RESIGNATION of Jack O'Rourke as head football mentor Tuesday there are now four coaching vacancies at Beaver Local High School.

Besides the grid post, the basketball, track and wrestling jobs are open.

The world champion Cleveland Indians will play an exhibition game against the 1948 American League All-Stars June 23.

The contest will be an abbreviated affair between games of Cleveland's doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox.

Ohio State's home football game against Penn State will be televised regionally Nov. 9, the Columbus Broadcasting System has announced.

MARIETTA COLLEGE, only campus in Ohio where crew racing is a varsity sport, expects to have its unit ready for the Dad Vail Regatta at Philadelphia today and Saturday.

Vince Risko, promoter of boxing, wrestling, theatrical and sports shows in Canton the last 14 years, has been named box office manager for the National Professional Football Hall of Fame.

Dayton Roosevelt is slated to make a big bid for a third straight Class AA championship among 36 contenders today and Saturday at the 29th annual Miami University High School Track and Field Meet. Cincinnati DePores is favored to retain its Class A title in a field of 18 schools.

Richard T. Ridel, head football coach at Brookfield High School, has resigned his post to accept a teaching position in the Warren city schools for the 1963-64 term.

Robert J. Nichols, whose basketball team compiled a record of 111-39 over a seven-year span at Toledo Central Catholic High School, has been named assistant coach at Bowling Green State University.

Patterson To Visit Birmingham, Ala.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK (AP) — Neither Floyd Patterson's injured finger nor his projected trip to strife-torn Birmingham, Ala., will cause any further delay in his rematch with heavyweight champion Sonny Liston.

Patterson was knocked out in the first round of his first fight with Liston. Their oft-postponed rematch now is scheduled for Las Vegas July 22.

"The fight definitely will go on July 22," the former champion said Thursday. "Even if my hand hasn't healed, it will go on. There will be no more delay on my part."

Nor, said Patterson, would his trip to racially-troubled Birmingham delay the bout, though he added:

"I expect to be arrested. I expect to be handled roughly and put in jail. If they do put me in jail, I imagine there will be somebody to put up bail."

Patterson and baseball Hall of Famer Jackie Robinson said they were going to Birmingham next Monday.

Girls Softball Team Will Practice Sunday

The Salem girls softball team will hold a practice at Centennial Park Sunday at 3 p.m.

Any girl in the area who would like to try out for the squad is urged to attend.

A word from THERON at the Country Store

I started to run a daily article on the TV page of the Vindicator. I have a number of customers who work for that paper. It is working out real well, we are getting many new people in from my articles already.

It has really been amazing the number of people who have visited the Country Store after reading these articles on the comic page. What makes me feel so good is the nice group of people who tell me they enjoy them. Sometimes I don't get to spend the time on them I should. Once in a while you will see a repeat, that means I didn't get any written.

Ohio Senate Approves 'Jones-Smith' Measure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—After several years of trying, they have finally managed to get a "Jones-Smith" bill through the Ohio Senate.

While the original idea of getting the two commonest names in the phone book teamed up on a single bill had its origin in jest, the bill which Sens. Charles H. Jones, R-Butler, and John C.

Smith, D-Montgomery, finally co-sponsored is anything but funny. The Jones-Smith bill passed unanimously Thursday by the Senate and sent to the House, authorizes the state capital or the seat of any county to be transferred anywhere in the state in case of enemy attack. The bill is a part of a series of measures growing out of a constitutional amendment adopted in 1961.

Senate action on the Jones-Smith measure came as the legislature wound up its 18th work week and ground ahead toward a mid-June windup of its working sessions.

Since the bill carries an emergency clause, it would be effective as soon as it is passed by the House and signed by the governor.

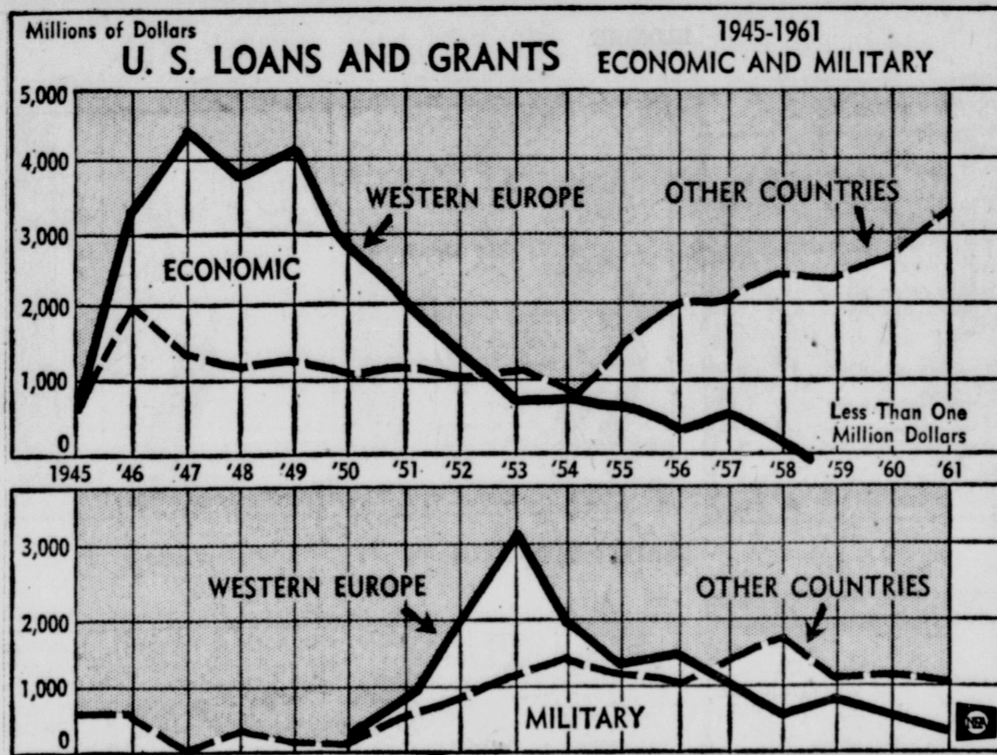

The House passed a Senate-approved bill to permit Ohio to be the first state in the union to permit "condominium" — individual ownership of individual units in apartment buildings.

A highlight of the legislative day was a Republican-Democratic dispute in the House over a proposal to split up Cuyahoga County into subdistricts for electing state representatives.

The House Elections and Federal Relations Committee had, a few hours earlier, adopted on a strict party-line vote a bill to subdivide the state's largest county — Cuyahoga — to eliminate its so-called "bed-sheet" ballot for legislators. With 17 to be elected, the county often has had more than 100 legislative candidates.

Under present law, every county is entitled to at least one member in the House. The Cuyahoga County delegation in the House now is 17. The subdistricting proposal would touch only Cuyahoga County because it affects only counties with 14 or more representatives.

FOREIGN LOANS AND GRANTS — Newschart show the net loans and grants made by the United States since 1945 in the economic and military categories. Two Injured In Separate Road Mishaps

A Lisbon youth and a Canton truck driver were slightly hurt in separate, one-vehicle traffic mishaps Thursday and today.

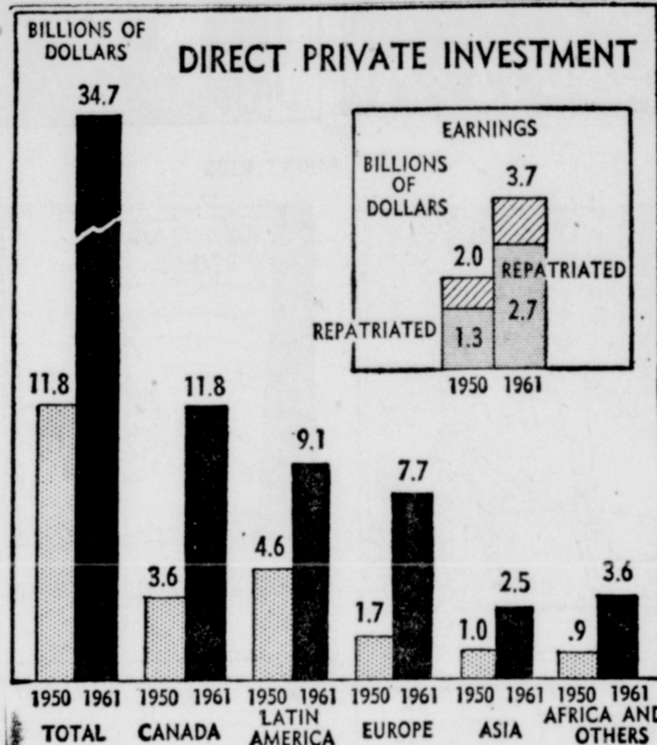

John A. Finch, 16, of 327 N. Market St., Lisbon, was treated at Salem City Hospital for bruises and abrasions after his car flipped over on Route 154, two miles east of Lisbon, at 12:50 this morning.

The Lisbon post of the State Highway Patrol said Finch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Finch, was traveling west when his car dropped off the right berm. When the boy cut back onto the pavement, he lost control of the vehicle which overturned on the roadway. He was not cited.

A truck smashed into a pile of stones Thursday morning at 8:50 on Route 14, about five miles east of Route 7, sending the driver, Charles Earley, 40, of Canton, to Salem City Hospital for treatment. Earley suffered abrasions of the back, chest and nose.

A possible defect in the steering mechanism may have been at fault for the mishap, the Patrol said. Earley was driving his tractor-trailer west on Route 14 when it slipped off the right side of the road on a curve just west of Unity and plowed into a stone pile on an embankment. Collide Near E. Liverpool

Cars driven by Marguerite L. Knight, 37, of East Liverpool and Helen J. Higgins, 18, of RD 1, Negley, sideswiped each other at 5 p.m. on Hamilton St., a township road about two miles northeast of East Liverpool. Only minor damage resulted.

FOREIGN INVESTMENT PICTURE — Newschart shows how investments abroad by private U. S. interests have almost tripled between 1951 ($11.8 billion) and 1961 ($34.7 billion). The inset shows earnings on the 1950 investment represents a 17 per cent return. In 1961 earnings were $3.7 billion, an 11 per cent return.

Police Quell Yale, Brown Campus Riots

By The Associated Press
A touch of spring fever struck three New England college campuses during Thursday night and sent students swarming into the streets of New Haven, Conn.; Providence, R.I.; and Waltham, Mass.

Before dawn broke today, what began as spring larks turned into full-scale riots at the campuses of Yale and Brown universities.

At New Haven it took scores of nightstick swinging policemen to bring some 1,500 Yale students under control early today. Seventeen students were arrested and one required hospital treatment.

Providence police used dogs, motorcycles and nightsticks to drive the Brown students back to their dormitories after repeated pleas from college officials failed.

One police officer was injured when struck by a rock and another was bitten by his dog. Fourteen students were arrested.

Hundreds of Brown students surged from the campus and headed for girls' dormitories at Pembroke College, Bryant College and Rhode Island School of Design. They milled about the buildings but failed to gain entrance.

Earlier in the week Princeton students rioted on the New Jersey campus. Fourteen were arrested on disorderly conduct charges Monday night. The list of Princeton students who admit being a part of the riot totaled 500.

At Brandeis University in Waltham some 1,500 students swarmed across the campus toward the girls' dormitories but quickly dispersed when six police cruisers showed up. There were no arrests.

School officials described the scene as "spring madness."
